Scientific Document Sample

This is a scientific document where some variables are defined. Let x denote the number of characters in this sentence. If such is the case, then it would logically imply that y denotes the number of words in the previous sentence.

N represents the number of passengers in a given taxi. If the taxi were to travel close to c, where c denotes the number of speed of light, then it would be traveling very fast. The speed, in fact, would be extremely fast.

Fast is synonymous with "swift".

This document is indeed very scientific.